HUMOROUS ITEMS.

The latest parlor game—Sitting up. It takes two to play it.

Without the dear ladies, we should be but a stay-nation.

One of the commonest proofs we have that man is made of clay, is the brick so often found in his hat!

I am going to draw this beau into a knot, as the lady said at the hymenial altar.

"What is the chief end of man?" asked a Sunday-school teacher. "The end what's got the head on," replied a young un.

"How long can a fool live?" asked a lawyer of a witness. "I don't know," replied the witness; "how long have you lived?"

A young fop about to start for New Orleans, proposed to purchase a life-preserver.

"Oh, you'll not want it," suggested the clerk, "bugs of wind won't sink."

"James, I fear you are forgetting me," said a bright-eyed girl to her sweetheart the other day. "Yes, Sue, I have been for getting you these two years," and now want your answer.

Said an ambitious youth one day to a young lady, "Don't you think I'd better dye my mustache?" caressing the infant prodigy. "I think if you will let it alone it will die itself," said the lady.

"Look here, boy," said a nervous old gentleman to an urchin, who was munching sugar-candy at a lecture, "you are annoying me very much." "No I ain't. I'm a-gnawing this sugar-candy."

Josh Billings on preaching: "I always advise short sermons, especially on a hot Sunday. If a minister kant strike ile in 40 minutes, he has either got a poor gimlet, or else he is boring in the wrong place."

At a recent meeting of a London vestry a member proposed that "no vehicle or any other animal should be allowed to remain or stand upon any part of the commons."

John Randolph once on a race course was solicited to bet by a stranger who said: "Smith here will hold the stakes." "Just so," replied the descendant of Pocahontas; "but who'll hold Smith?"

"Husband I hope you have no objections to my getting weighed?" "Certainly not, my dear; but why do you ask me that question?" "Only to see my love if you would allow me to have my weigh once."

A little boy, some six years old, was using his slate and pencil on a Sunday, when his father, who was a minister, entered, and said: "My son, I prefer that you should not use your slate on the Lord's day." "I am drawing meeting houses, father," was the prompt reply.

A housemaid who was to call a gentleman to dinner found him engaged in using a tooth brush. "Well, is he coming?" said the lady of the house, as the servant returned. "Yes, ma'am directly," was the reply. "He's jist sharpening his teeth."

"Do you mean to challenge the jury?" whispered a lawyer to his Irish client. "Yis," be jabers," was the answer, "if they don't acquit me, I mean to challenge every spalpeen of 'em: I want ye to give 'em all a hint of it, too."

Eligible young bachelor—making call—"Well, Master Fred, you don't know who I am."

Too candid young hopeful—"Oh, but I do though! You're the chap that ma says would make such a good catch for Mary."

Two well-dressed shoemakers being in the company of some gentlemen, were asked their profession. Says one of them:

"I practice the heel-ing art."

"And I," says the other, "labor for the good of men's soles!"

Not long ago a woman entered the probate office with four little "hopefuls," and with a countenance that would do justice to hard days, commenced her truly affecting appeal: "Plase your honor, my husband died detested, and left four little infidel children and appointed me executioner, and I pray your honor will allow me to execute."
